

2012 Teaching Skills Seminars

Noon to 1:00pm

HP Smith Conference Room, W256 GH

Presented by
The Office of Consultation and Research in Medical Education (OCRME)
University of Iowa Roy J. and Lucille A. Carver College of Medicine

Feel free to bring your lunch!

This seminar series is being offered to faculty, fellows, and staff to help them improve their teaching skills. Following attendance of sessions, the participants should be able to identify key aspects of effective teaching in the context of medical education, evaluate their own teaching and identify areas for improvement, and choose specific techniques for enhancing learning and/or assessment.

DATE	TOPIC	FACILITATOR(S)
February 22 nd	Teaching in the Patient's Presence in Outpatient and Inpatient Settings	Marcy Rosenbaum, PhD, Associate Professor, Family Medicine Kelly Skelly, MD, Clinical Associate Professor, Family Medicine Eyad Hanna, MD, Clinical Assistant Professor, Pediatrics
March 28 th	Team-Based Learning	Kristi Ferguson, PhD, Professor, Internal Medicine Susan Lench, MA, Associate Director, OCRME
April 18 th	Inpatient Teaching	Marcy Rosenbaum, PhD, Associate Professor, Family Medicine Patricia Quigley, MD, Clinical Assistant Professor, Pediatrics

Pre-registration is requested

Please register for individual offerings by contacting
Stephanie Burnett (Phone 335-8901; e-mail stephanie-burnett@uiowa.edu)
For additional information on any of the sessions, please contact Marcy Rosenbaum, Ph.D.
(Phone 335-8612; e-mail marcy-rosenbaum@uiowa.edu)