

University of Iowa Health Care

University of Iowa Health Care is an internationally recognized academic medical center that includes the UI Roy J. and Lucille A. Carver College of Medicine, UI Hospitals and Clinics, and UI Physicians, Iowa's largest multi-specialty medical and surgical group practice. These partners work together to provide innovative patient care, conduct biomedical research, and train the next generation of health professionals. The UI Health Care enterprise is headed by Jean E. Robillard, MD, UI Vice President for Medical Affairs. Robillard received bachelor's and medical degrees from the University of Montreal, then completed an internship at the Hôtel Dieu Hospital and a residency in pediatrics at Ste. Justine Hospital in Montreal. He was a fellow in pediatric nephrology at the University of California Medical Center in Los Angeles before coming to the UI in 1974. He was vice chair of the UI Department of Pediatrics and director of the pediatric nephrology division through 1996 when he accepted a position as professor and chair of the Department of Pediatrics at the University of Michigan Medical School and physician-in-chief at C.S. Mott Children's Hospital. In February 2003 he returned to The University of Iowa as dean of the Carver College of Medicine.
