Child passenger safety

Car crashes are a leading cause of death for children

Many of these tragedies could be prevented. This can be done with proper use of car and booster seats and seat belts. Data shows more than 50% of car seats are not used the right way.

The University of Iowa Stead Family Children's Hospital has experts certified in Child Passenger Safety. They are happy to help parents with any type of car seat education needed.

Appointments can be made:

Monday–Friday at 9:30 a.m., 12:30 p.m. and 3 p.m.
