With a rich history spanning three decades, the University of Iowa ECMO program proudly stands as a Platinum Level Center of Excellence. We are thrilled to announce our ELSO endorsed, four-day adult ECMO course, meticulously designed for healthcare professionals at all levels (APP, CCP, Physician, RN, RRT). This immersive program combines didactic presentations and high-fidelity simulations to offer a comprehensive training experience.

Recognizing the uniqueness of each participant’s background, our course provides the flexibility to attend the didactic portion, the simulation segment, or both. The didactic component delves into the intricacies of managing VenoVenous and VenoArterial ECMO, meeting the criteria for step one of ELSO’s E-AEC certification.

Furthermore, our high-fidelity simulation aspect is tailored to encompass essential scenarios, addressing the requirements for step two of the E-AEC certification. This hands-on experience ensures that participants not only acquire theoretical knowledge but also gain practical skills, preparing them for real-world challenges in ECMO practice.

Join us on this educational journey, where our decades-long expertise converges with cutting-edge simulation techniques to elevate ECMO proficiency across diverse healthcare roles.
